Q What is the Medicare Part D Insulin Savings Program?

A The Medicare Part D Insulin Savings Program allows participating Part D plans to offer a broad set of insulins and medicines containing insulin at a maximum $35 co-payment per month's supply. These discounted rates continue through the initial coverage, deductible and donut hole phase of the Part D drug coverage. This means that starting January 2022, participating Part D plans will offer enrollees predictable, stable co-payments for insulin, helping enrollees reduce out-of-pocket costs of their medicines.

Q How does the Medicare Part D Insulin Savings Program work?

A The Medicare Part D Insulin Savings Program allows drug manufacturers to offer their discounts, even in the donut hole. This allows plans to offer a fixed, consistent cost-sharing on insulin.

Q Which plans are part of the program? How do I find one?

A The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, also known as CMS (the federal agency that approves Medicare plans), announced Medicare Advantage Part D (MA-PD) and Part D Prescription Drug Plans (Part D PDPs) that are participating in the Program in September 2020. To find a plan available to you, use the Medicare Plan Finder at Medicare.gov. You may also call (1-800-633-4227) to ask questions about enrollment, eligibility, and the Program. You may also contact a local trusted Medicare agent or broker to help with any additional questions.

Q When is the Medicare Part D Insulin Savings Program expected to end? What is the duration of this program?

A The Program currently extends until December 31, 2025, but the plans participating in the Program may change, so it's important to search for a plan each year.

Q How will I know if my plan is participating next year 2022?

A If you joined a plan participating in the Medicare Part D Insulin Savings Program for 2021, your plan will notify you in the Annual Notice of Change (ANOC) that you will receive in September 2021 if they are no longer participating. You may choose a different plan for 2022 during the Medicare Open Enrollment Period starting in October 2021.

Q If I select the Medicare Part D Insulin Savings Program, will my other medications be covered?

A The maximum $35 per month applies to insulin medications. Make sure to enter all your current prescriptions to see their prices and coverage when choosing your plan.

Q I have a low-income cost-sharing subsidy (LIS), sometimes called Extra Help. Can I get the maximum $35 per month cost-sharing under the Program?

A Part D enrollees who receive LIS already have a set Part D co-payment, so they aren't eligible for the maximum $35 for each 30-day prescription co-payment under the Program.

Q Is there a monthly cap on the amount of insulin I can get for the maximum $35 co-pay?

A Generally, the maximum $35 co-payment under the Program applies to a 1-month supply of insulin. This may be limited by a physician's prescription or by plan rules on drug dosage to ensure patient safety. Please note that if an enrollee uses multiple types of insulin or has multiple prescriptions for select insulins covered under the Program, each prescription would have a co-payment of maximum $35 for a 1-month supply.
